How to create a user account

To borrow books from the library, you need a valid library user account.
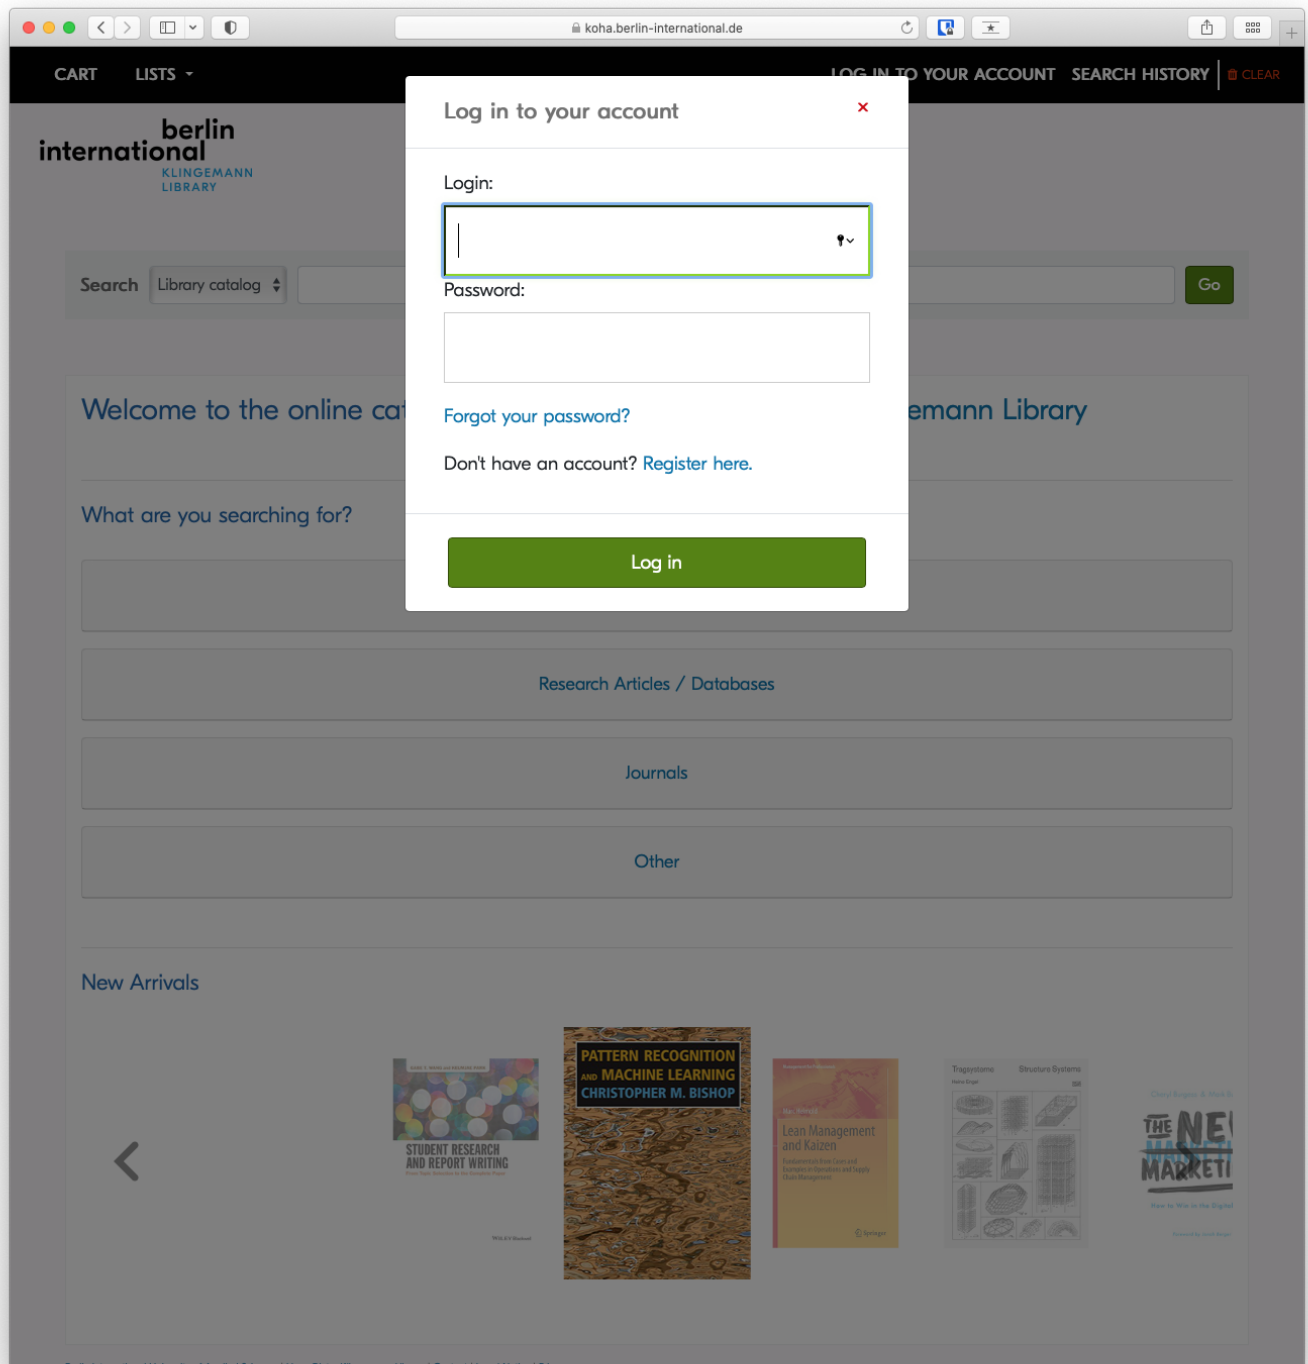

Creating a New Library Account

Creating a new user account is easy. Just log in once with your BI email and password to the library's catalog (OPAC).

Forgot Your Password?

As of August 2024, it is no longer necessary to register a separate library account. You can now use your BI email credentials to create and log in to your library account.

If you created an account prior to August 2024 and would like to change the password, please contact the library.
